CRIPPLED GRAF ZEPPELIN LANDS AT TOULON

STORM TOSSED AND NEARLY DRIVEN TO SEA

MOTORS GENERALLY DISABLED, SEVERAL HAVE BROKEN CRANKSHAFTS

SKILLFUL MANEUVERING BY DR. HUGO ECKENER AVOIDED CATASTROPHE

Toulon, France, May 17.—(UP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin, saved from grave peril by the magnificent maneuvering of her commander, was brought safely to the ground with French troops' aid at the Cuers air field near here, and taken into the hangar at 8:55 P. M.

The 18 passengers, including Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York and the zeppelin's crew of 41 were safe after nearly 24 hours of dramatic battling with the elements that began when the zeppelin's engines started to fail as she neared Gibraltar on her trans-Atlantic voyage.

Toulon, France, May 17.—(UP)—The crippled Graf Zeppelin, driven helplessly by a storm, maneuvered her way over the Cuers airdrome here tonight.

She lowered ropes which were secured by a large ground crew.

A large force of men held on the tugging zeppelin but it was believed that at least an hour's maneuvering would be necessary before she could be brought safely to the ground.

A trained ground crew reinforced by troops, awaited the arrival of the dirigible as she was driven by the high winds towards the Mediterranean. Dr. Hugo Eckener, her commanner, had advised the authorities by wireless that he thought he could maneuver over Toulon.

Fortunately the zeppelin sptruck a calmer area when she neared this vicinity. The zeppelin, with her motors stopped, drifted over the far corner of the airdrome and the ground crew seized the ropes.

Paris, May 17. — The crippled dirigible Graf Zeppelin, driven helplessly by a storm towards the Mediterranean sea, was in desperate peril tonight with her 18 passengers and crew of 41.

The single hope seemed to be that the gale would blow the dirigible over Toulon, on the southeast French coast, where troops and a trained land crew waited at the airport to land her.

Otherwise, it appeared inevitable the dirigible must be blown out to sea.

The dirigible drifted without power for hours and it was feared that all five of its motors were dead. Dr. Hugo Eckener, her commander, fought desperately to maneuver the ship, her steering gear and fins still unimpaired, but the wind made it difficult.

The wind was from the northwest and the zeppelin crew had no choice but to be driven towards the southeast and Toulon.

Through her wireless and by dropping notes over the countryside, the zeppelin kept France informed of her condition. Troops were mobilized all over the department of Drome, across which she was drifting.

Dr. Eckener made a desperate attempt to bring the ship down at Ancone, southeast of Montelimar, but failed and had to make altitude to prevent a crash.

The French, mindful of the fate of their own dirigible Dixmude when it was lost over the Mediterranean several years ago, mobilized every resource at hand to help.

Paris, May 17. — The stricken dirigible Graf Zeppelin, her motors almost dead, was driven by a northwest storm across southeastern France today, desperately seeking to make a landing before dark, while French troops mobilized at strategic points to help her.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible, gave up his gallant fight to steer the ship toward her home port of Friedrichshafen and at 5:30 P. M. informed the French government he would attempt to come down at Toulon as soon as possible.

A trained ground crew was ready at the Toulon airdrome, with troops standing by to help.

France, which in wartime feared zeppelins as deadly enemies, was eager to help the German passenger liner, with her 18 passengers and crew of 41, which was forced by engine trouble to turn back near Gibraltar while on her second trans-Atlantic voyage.

Troops everywhere in the Rhone valley were moving to points where they could be of assistance. Eckener was in communication with Paris by wireless and at the same time was dropping notes steadily from the dirigible, to maintain closer and faster communication with local authorities.

Eckener's first attempt to land was made at Ancone, southeast of Montelimar, and was unsuccessful. With the motors all shut off, Eckener was unable to maneuver the bulky ship to land in the high wind.

Eckener twice dipped the ship and lowered ropes. A crowd of peasants and troops underneath eagerly tried to grasp the trailing ropes but the wind blew the dirigible out of reach.

Eckener, in danger of being blown against some obstruction, quickly regained height and began to drift helplessly before the storm.

His only apparent hope was to make a landing at Toulon or Marseilles, or be blown out to sea.

COAST GUARD TO RESCUE 30 SAILORS

STEAMER J. E. GORMAN POUNDING TO PIECES OFF MUNSING, MICH.

RAN INTO TROUBLE DURING A RAGING WIND AND SNOW STORM

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 17.—(UP)—Coast guardsmen prepared today to hurry to the rescue of thirty men on the steamer J. E. Gorman, reported pounding on the reef off Munsing, Mich.

The steamer was the third vessel to run into trouble during a raging wind and snow storm which struck the upper peninsula. High waves hampered rescue efforts, but it was believed the J. E. Gorman was in no immediate danger.

Yesterday, thirty-one men were rescued from the freighter Ralph Budd which was thrown against the rocky shore off Keeweenaw Point. Coast guardsmen battled for hours against mountainous waves before accomplishing their task.

The steamer Henry C. Frick ran aground on a mud flat in the lower St. Mary's during the storm and was re-floated by a tug a short time later.

The J. E. Gorman, a Great Lakes transit vessel commanded by Capt. Walter Holm, reported its danger early last night, but it was impossible to get relief to the boat immediately.

Shipping in the Great Lakes was reported here to be virtually at a standstill. The wind raged at a 50-mile an hour rate.

GAS TAX ALLOTMENTS ARE BEING COMPILED

St. Paul, May 17.—(UP)—Minnesota's 87 counties will receive their share of one-third of the state gasoline tax on August 1, from money collected up to July 1, and the second allotment on Feb. 1, 1930, according to plans laid late Thursday by the State Highway department alotment board.

It was estimated that $2,700,000 would be divided among the counties for the taxes collected in 1929 of which no county will receive more than 3 per cent nor less than 3-4 per cent.

At the same time the board planned the allotments of the state road fund from the 1 mill tax, estimated to total $1,964,300 of which each county is assured at least $19,543.

The highway department was engaged in working out the allotments for each county today and it was expected that an announcement would be made on their decisions sometime next week.

100 Persons Killed in Fire Destroying 250 Houses at Iwie In Eastern Poland

DEATH THREAT HANGS OVER A SCORE OF PEOPLE

FUNERAL PLANS MADE TODAY AT CLEVELAND FOR 127 VICTIMS

LIVES WERE SNUFFED OUT BY FIRE AND BLAST AT CLEVELAND CLINIC

By CLAIRE M. BURCKY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Cleveland, May 17.—The threat of death hung over a score of persons today as funeral plans were made for the 127 whose lives were snuffed out by poison gas and fire in the Cleveland Clinic disaster.

Patients, doctors, nurses—all those still alive who were in the clinic on Wednesday when three explosions starting in the X-ray room sent yellowish nitrogen dioxide fumes swirling through the building — were marked on the danger list.

They, with firemen, policemen and volunteers who carried victims from the blazing structure, were ordered to report for medical treatment to drive gas poison from their lungs and blood corpuscles.

The vast destruction of human life in the institution erected to preserve life today was believed due to the errors of two workmen.

The first workman, a young steam fitter named Buffery Boggs, told of how he was called to the X-ray room Wednesday morning to repair a steam pipe. After removing fireproof covering he found the pipe too hot to touch.

He went back to his shop, leaving the pipe to cool. An hour later he returned to find the room filled with smoke and steam dripping from the pipe.

A few minutes later the first explosion shook the building. Boggs' error, investigators said, was leaving the pipe unwatched.

City Fire Wardens P. F. Ferrie and M. F. Gross said they believed the heat from the pipe had caused spontaneous combustion in the X-ray film.

Nitrogen gas given off from the film combined with oxygen of the air to form nitrogen dioxide gas, "certain death" for those who breathed it.

But this deadly gas never would have escaped from the film room to cause death on the floors above except for the error of a second steamfitter, a man yet unidentified.

Years ago this man installed a steam pipe that protruded from the ceiling and prevented the automatic closing of a fire door. This door was constructed to close as soon as the film room temperature rose suddenly and cut off the room from the rest of the building.

Blood tests by Coroner Pearse on the bodies of those persons whose skin were yellowed by the poison gas showed heavy traces of hydrocyanic and bromide acid gases. Autopsies on two bodies revealed suffocation as cause of death.

Many of those who apparently survived the fumes, may be walking with death, Pearse said. He cited cases of persons, apparently out of danger, who later collapsed and died.

Paul Roquemore of East Dallas, Texas, a volunteer rescue worker, laughed Wednesday afternoon and boasted, "I'm all right," after carrying many victims from the clinic. He died yesterday.

Miss Ella Moeller, stenographer, leaped from a clinic window and congratulated herself on inhaling little of the gas. Later she felt ill, collapsed and died.

Patrolman Ernest Staab carried 21 persons from the clinic and died after taking them to a nearby hospital.

Coroner Pearse said today he believed he had traced the centers of the three explosions. The first came after the X-ray plates were touched off, the second occurred in the switchboard and the third in the drug and chemical storeroom, he thought. He was interested principally in how the fire started.

The X-ray room was under police guard today with orders to disturb nothing until the official findings are announced.

AL CAPONE IS ARRESTED AT PHILADELPHIA

HELD IN $35,000 BAIL ON CHARGE OF CARRYING CONCEALED WEAPON

FRANK CLINE, CAPONE'S BODYGUARD, ARRESTED SAME TIME ON SAME CHARGE

Philadelphia, May 17.—(UP)—Al Capone, Chicago gang chieftain, was arrested as he left a motion picture theatre last night and was held today in $35,000 bail on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Frank Cline, Capone's bodyguard, was arrested with him and held on the same charge.

Police instructions were to arrest Capone on sight as a suspicious character, and as the gang leader left the theatre he was recognized by Detective James Malone.

"Hello," Capone said. The gangster smiled genially while Malone searched him. The detective reported he took a .38 calibre pistol from Capone and another one from Cline.

The two men were taken to police court and arraigned before Magistrate Carney, who set bail at $35,000.

"I would have set the bond at $100,000 if I had the authority," Carney said.

Philadelphia, May 17—"Scarface" Al" Capone, who carries a gun because "I'm on the mark, you know—marked for death," was sentenced today to serve one year in the county prison because he brought his revolver to Philadelphia.

The notorious Chicago gangland leader and his bodyguard, Frank Cline, pleaded guilty to the charge of carrying concealed deadly weapons, after which both Capone and Kline received sentences of a year's imprisonment.

Judge John E. Walsh sentenced the men in the criminal division of municipal court.

The pleas was taken after the men conferred with their attorneys, Bernard L. Lemisch and Cornelius Haggerty, Jr. Previously they had been advised to "stand mute" and Judge Walsh directed a "not guilty" plea be inscribed upon the official court records.

Indictment and sentencing of the men occurred about 13 hours after their arrest here.

Their prison sentence was the maximum that could be imposed under Pennsylvania statutes for this offense. Judge Walsh also could have fined them $500 each.

The grand jury and police court machinery functioned swiftly in bringing Capone and Cline to trial. The proceedings went ahead so rapidly that defense attorneys registered vigorous protests at what they called "railroading" of their clients.

Capone had been confident he could "beat the rap." He said he had never been molested when visiting Philadelphia and boasted that "no charge was ever brought against me that hasn't been squashed."

The gang leader offered no hesitancy in producing his weapon when approached by detectives last night. Asked why he carried a gun, Capone replied:

"I'm on the mark, you know — marked for death, that's why."

There was no delay in putting Capone and Cline in city hall cells. They were marched straight past a cell containing a table and chair, and placed in rough boarded cells with only the most meager of equipment.

Bail was set at $35,000 and although attorneys appeared her as if by magic a short time after the arrests, the amount was not forthcoming.

DEBENTURE CLAUSE TO BE KILLED IN HOUSE

ORIGINAL BILL TO BE FINALLY ADOPTED, ACCORDING TO LEADERS

SECRET AMENDMENTS BEING PREPARED FOR ADMINISTRATION TARIFF BILL

Washington, May 17.—A strategic plan for handling the difficult farm and tariff problems, which have been causing such a legislative uproar, was entered upon today by administration leaders in the house. They are confident the plan will meet with success.

It calls for killing the debenture clause of the farm bill in a conference of committees representing the house and senate, and final adoption of the original bill creating the $500,000,000 revolving fund to be administered by a federal farm board for promotion of orderly marketing.

The first move toward that end was taken when the house took up a special rule for the bill, limiting debate to one hour. All of the time would be allotted to Chairman Snell of the rules committee who would parcel it out as he saw fit.

The rule would waive the constitutional question of whether the senate was within its rights in adopting the debenture clause. It says "in view of the present legislation affording relief to agriculture," it will set aside the constitutional argument and send the bill to conference. The rule may be contested but it will be adopted.

The house leaders have no doubt the debenture clause will be eliminated because the conference committee stands 8 to 2 against it, although the five senators are bound temporarily at least by the action of the senate in adopting the plan.

The tariff strategy is working out equally well from the administration standpoint. The house ways and means committee has drawn a half dozen secret amendments to the pending bill which make some of the changes desired by the farm bloc.

The leaders think they will draw farm bloc support to the bill. If they do, the tariff can be passed within a week over democratic objections.

The senate was tied up today in an executive session over the nomination of Irvin Lenroot, of Wisconsin, named by President Hoover to be a member of the U. S. court of customs appeals. A vote confirming the nomination was expected before night.

The fight against the former senator is being led by Chairman Norris of the judiciary committee, who cited Lenroot's record in the Teapot Dome investigation and his stand on tariff legislation.

St. Paul, May 17.—(U.P.)—Construction of permanent duck blinds on artificial embankments is a violation of the Minnesota game and fish law, the state supreme court ruled today when it sustained a verdict against William Figgey, Pope county, returned in a county justice court.

Figgey was arrested, charged with having built blinds on an artificial embankment which extended out on Lake Emily, and was found guilty of game law violation.

He appealed to the supreme court and lost his case.

AL CAPONE IS ARRESTED AT PHILADELPHIA

HELD IN $35,000 BAIL ON CHARGE OF CARRYING CONCEALED WEAPON

FRANK CLINE, CAPONE'S BODYGUARD, ARRESTED SAME TIME ON SAME CHARGE

Philadelphia, May 17.—(UP)—Al Capone, Chicago gang chieftain, was arrested as he left a motion picture theatre last night and was held today in $35,000 bail on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Frank Cline, Capone's bodyguard, was arrested with him and held on the same charge.

Police instructions were to arrest Capone on sight as a suspicious character, and as the gang leader left the theatre he was recognized by Detective James Malone.

"Hello," Capone said. The gangster smiled genially while Malone searched him. The detective reported he took a .38 calibre pistol from Capone and another one from Cline.

The two men were taken to police court and arraigned before Magistrate Carney, who set bail at $35,000.

"I would have set the bond at $100,000 if I had the authority," Carney said.

Philadelphia, May 17—"Scarface" Al" Capone, who carries a gun because "I'm on the mark, you know—marked for death," was sentenced today to serve one year in the county prison because he brought his revolver to Philadelphia.

The notorious Chicago gangland leader and his bodyguard, Frank Cline, pleaded guilty to the charge of carrying concealed deadly weapons, after which both Capone and Kline received sentences of a year's imprisonment.

Judge John E. Walsh sentenced the men in the criminal division of municipal court.

The pleas was taken after the men conferred with their attorneys, Bernard L. Lemisch and Cornelius Haggerty, Jr. Previously they had been advised to "stand mute" and Judge Walsh directed a "not guilty" plea be inscribed upon the official court records.

Indictment and sentencing of the men occurred about 13 hours after their arrest here.

Their prison sentence was the maximum that could be imposed under Pennsylvania statutes for this offense. Judge Walsh also could have fined them $500 each.

The grand jury and police court machinery functioned swiftly in bringing Capone and Cline to trial. The proceedings went ahead so rapidly that defense attorneys registered vigorous protests at what they called "railroading" of their clients.

Capone had been confident he could "beat the rap." He said he had never been molested when visiting Philadelphia and boasted that "no charge was ever brought against me that hasn't been squashed."

The gang leader offered no hesitancy in producing his weapon when approached by detectives last night. Asked why he carried a gun, Capone replied:

"I'm on the mark, you know — marked for death, that's why."

There was no delay in putting Capone and Cline in city hall cells. They were marched straight past a cell containing a table and chair, and placed in rough boarded cells with only the most meager of equipment.

Bail was set at $35,000 and although attorneys appeared her as if by magic a short time after the arrests, the amount was not forthcoming.

DEBENTURE CLAUSE TO BE KILLED IN HOUSE

ORIGINAL BILL TO BE FINALLY ADOPTED, ACCORDING TO LEADERS

SECRET AMENDMENTS BEING PREPARED FOR ADMINISTRATION TARIFF BILL

Washington, May 17.—A strategic plan for handling the difficult farm and tariff problems, which have been causing such a legislative uproar, was entered upon today by administration leaders in the house. They are confident the plan will meet with success.

It calls for killing the debenture clause of the farm bill in a conference of committees representing the house and senate, and final adoption of the original bill creating the $500,000,000 revolving fund to be administered by a federal farm board for promotion of orderly marketing.

The first move toward that end was taken when the house took up a special rule for the bill, limiting debate to one hour. All of the time would be allotted to Chairman Snell of the rules committee who would parcel it out as he saw fit.

The rule would waive the constitutional question of whether the senate was within its rights in adopting the debenture clause. It says "in view of the present legislation affording relief to agriculture," it will set aside the constitutional argument and send the bill to conference. The rule may be contested but it will be adopted.

The house leaders have no doubt the debenture clause will be eliminated because the conference committee stands 8 to 2 against it, although the five senators are bound temporarily at least by the action of the senate in adopting the plan.

The tariff strategy is working out equally well from the administration standpoint. The house ways and means committee has drawn a half dozen secret amendments to the pending bill which make some of the changes desired by the farm bloc.

The leaders think they will draw farm bloc support to the bill. If they do, the tariff can be passed within a week over democratic objections.

The senate was tied up today in an executive session over the nomination of Irvin Lenroot, of Wisconsin, named by President Hoover to be a member of the U. S. court of customs appeals. A vote confirming the nomination was expected before night.

The fight against the former senator is being led by Chairman Norris of the judiciary committee, who cited Lenroot's record in the Teapot Dome investigation and his stand on tariff legislation.

LAKE EMILY HUNTER LOSES DUCK BLINDS CASE

St. Paul, May 17.—(U.P.)—Construction of permanent duck blinds on artificial embankments is a violation of the Minnesota game and fish law, the state supreme court ruled today when it sustained a verdict against William Figgey, Pope county, returned in a county justice court.

Figgey was arrested, charged with having built blinds on an artificial embankment which extended out on Lake Emily, and was found guilty of game law violation.

He appealed to the supreme court and lost his case.

BIRD'S ROOFS

Dad Says—
"The roof makes such a difference"

Of course John, we want a roof that's awfully good looking but first we want to be sure that it's absolutely weatherproof and won't catch fire from chimney sparks. Dad put Bird's Paroid Roofing on his farm buildings twenty years ago and it's still good.

He suggests we go to the Bird Dealer here and look at the Hex-Twins Bird & Son make. They will last for years—they are fire resisting and—they are Beautiful.

All good Norwegians will be at Lum Park pavilion tonight when a 17te Mai celebration dance will be held.

Although scores of celebrations were held throughout the state today, the outstanding fetes were to be held in the Twin Cities tonight.

H. H. Bachke, Washington, D. C., Norwegian minister to the United States, was to address hundreds of celebrants at the East Side Eagles hall, Minneapolis, while Governor Theodore Chritianson was scheduled to speak to a similar crowd at the People's church, St. Paul.

Lieutenant Governor W. I. Nolan will welcome Bachke to Minnesota in behalf of the state while the welcome to Minneapolis will be made by Mayor George E. Leach.

MINNESOTA IRON ORE

MINNESOTA in 1928 and 1927 produced more than half the iron ore (exclusive of ore containing 5 per cent or more of manganese) mined in the United States, according to a report of the United States Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce.

Minnesota's mine yield in 1928 was 37,564,005 tons, while the entire iron ore production of the United States was 62,197,088 tons. This is an increase of less than one per cent over 1927 when Minnesota mined 35,461,138 tons and the United States total was 61,741,100 tons.

Iron ore shipments from the country in 1928 were valued at $155,788,657, an increase of 3.1 per cent in total value, compared with 1927. The average value per ton at the mines in 1928 was nearly $2.46, compared with $2.47 in 1927.

The stocks of iron ore at the mines at the end of 1928 amounted to 9,177,896 gross tons, a decrease of 9 per cent.

THE LAW SUPPLEMENTS

THE law supplements came out with every newspaper in Minnesota. How many people read them? At great expense it is sought to give the public knowledge of the laws passed, but how many people familiarize themselves with their provisions?

It seems that the only time people look up law and a lawyer is when they are in trouble. Both should be consulted before one takes an important step, as an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure any time.

THE Cleveland hospital disaster is mystifying insofar as the cause of the explosions and fire is concerned. That X-ray films burn and explode is known, that they can fill a large, five story building with gas, however, seems unbelievable. Still, many spectators are said to have seen the yellow smoke and gas curling about and some of the victims were found seared yellow. That an agency built for the cure of disease should in turn become a charnel house seems a vagary.

WE have often wondered how to land a dirigible when its engines quit functioning. With no one to get hold of a landing line, the dirigible might float until the winds beat it down. It requires more ability, or shall we say seamanship, to maneuver a dirigible to a proper landing than to navigate through the air.

Worst of All Bungling

I hate all bungling as I do sin, but particularly bungling in politics, which leads to the misery and ruin of many thousands and millions of people.—Goethe.

How "Skinny" Girls Gain Weight Quick

Put on flesh in a few weeks with new YEAST and IRON. Your own druggist guarantees results—or pay nothing

It seems incredible how fast Ironized Yeast adds pounds of good firm flesh—on women and men, children and old people. Doctors know the value of vegetable iron and yeast in building up and improving the body. Ironized Yeast in a highly concentrated form, contains all the blood building properties of vegetable iron with yeast. It will give results in half the time required by yeast and iron taken separately.

People ask—what is in Ironized Yeast that so quickly tranforms sallow, lifeless, faded complexions into the fresh, smooth, lovely skin of early girlhood. Wrinkles disappear. Hollows fill in. No wonder thousands of men and women pour in letters to us in praise of the marvelous youthifying effects of Ironized Yeast!

So don't go around skinny, tired and sallow-looking when Ironized Yeast will build you up and bring lovely, fresh color so quickly. Safe to take—pleasant-tasting tablets. Do not upset the stomach or cause gas or bloating.

Go to any drug store today and get a full sized treatment. If after this generous trial, you are not delighted your money back immediately.—Adv.

Watch Tongue For Signs of Illness

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90 per cent of all sicknesses start with stomach and bowel trouble.

Look at your TONGUE every morning!

A white or yellowish coating on your tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders. It tells you why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

And it's a sign you need Tanlac. This good old reliable medicine has helped thousands who were physical wrecks. See how the first bottle helps you.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots—nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

Does your husband leave this up to you?

IF you have the responsibility of looking after the family car, there are some things you ought to know about motor oil . . . Things which nobody has cared to talk about before.

Oil must meet four requirements, engineers say, if lubrication is to be both complete and correct. Motor oil must provide—the 4 essentials of complete and proper lubrication

1. LOW CARBON CONTENT
2. NON-FOULING CARBON
3. IDEAL BODY AT ALL OPERATING TEMPERATURES
4. LOW POUR POINT

Thousands of automobile owners have found that there is one oil—Shell Motor Oil—which has all four of these characteristics.

Many otherwise good lubricants leave excessive carbon of a hard, flinty nature. But Shell forms little carbon, 20 to 33 per cent less than most oils.

And the little carbon which it forms is soft, fluffy, non-fouling. It blows away with the exhaust gases.

Shell Motor Oil has ideal body at all operating temperatures. That means it has courage and a fighting heart . . . it won't break down and cause trouble through long, hard service. You may never need to drive sixty miles an hour, but it's good to know you can with safety to your engine.

And Shell Motor Oil has a low pour point to make starting easy in cold weather.

Regular users of Shell Motor Oil tell of marked reduction in carbon removal jobs. They report amazing trouble-free performance, enjoy lowered operating costs and have fewer repair bills.

The quality which makes such satisfactory performance possible, is due to two things: the selection of the crude petroleum which forms the base of Shell Motor Oil, and the refining process which prepares that crude for use.

Shell's vast oil fields produce a great quantity of crude oil from which Shell selects its lubricating stock. And the refining process developed and used exclusively by Shell, prepares this crude in a very special way. Then Shell Motor Oil passes 259 tests before it is sealed for shipment from the refinery.

STOP AT THE SIGN OF THE SHELL

You'll find courteous attendants who will be glad to drain the crankcase of your car and refill with the right amount and correct grade of Shell Motor Oil. The familiar yellow and red service stations are convenient everywhere.

If you have a car, but no husband . . .

The business woman who drives a car should be particularly concerned with the economy of operation and the continuous trouble-free service which the use of Shell Motor Oil assures.

Women like 400 "Extra Dry" Shell Gasoline because it starts quickly and delivers the extra ounces of power when needed. Ought to cost more, but it doesn't.

MINNESOTA IRON ORE

MINNESOTA in 1928 and 1927 produced more than half the iron ore (exclusive of ore containing 5 per cent or more of manganese) mined in the United States, according to a report of the United States Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce.

Minnesota's mine yield in 1928 was 37,564,005 tons, while the entire iron ore production of the United States was 62,197,088 tons. This is an increase of less than one per cent over 1927 when Minnesota mined 35,461,138 tons and the United States total was 61,741,100 tons.

Iron ore shipments from the country in 1928 were valued at $155,788,657, an increase of 3.1 per cent in total value, compared with 1927. The average value per ton at the mines in 1928 was nearly $2.46, compared with $2.47 in 1927.

The stocks of iron ore at the mines at the end of 1928 amounted to 9,177,896 gross tons, a decrease of 9 per cent.

THE LAW SUPPLEMENTS

THE law supplements came out with every newspaper in Minnesota. How many people read them? At great expense it is sought to give the public knowledge of the laws passed, but how many people familiarize themselves with their provisions?

It seems that the only time people look up law and a lawyer is when they are in trouble. Both should be consulted before one takes an important step, as an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure any time.

THE Cleveland hospital disaster is mystifying insofar as the cause of the explosions and fire is concerned. That X-ray films burn and explode is known, that they can fill a large, five story building with gas, however, seems unbelievable. Still, many spectators are said to have seen the yellow smoke and gas curling about and some of the victims were found seared yellow. That an agency built for the cure of disease should in turn become a charnel house seems a vagary.

WE have often wondered how to land a dirigible when its engines quit functioning. With no one to get hold of a landing line, the dirigible might float until the winds beat it down. It requires more ability, or shall we say seamanship, to maneuver a dirigible to a proper landing than to navigate through the air.

SOUTH SIDE WINS CITY LEAGUE OPENER FROM Y. M. C. A.

WINNERS GET JUMP IN FIRST INNING; PUSH OVER THREE

TEAMS SHOW GOOD CONDITIONING FOR FIRST GAME OF SEASON; SCORE 5-3

FAST FIELDING HOLDS DOWN LONG HITTING; 3 TWO-BASE CLOUTS

Out on the Rosko field yesterday afternoon two Brainerd teams opened the city baseball league in a somewhat chilly atmosphere which handicapped the prospects for a colorful opening.

However, the South Side and the Y. M. C. A. showed good conditioning for so early in the season and the 300 spectators expressed pleasure at the performance given.

The South Siders grabbed a substantial lead in the first inning by scoring three runs and came through with one run in the fifth and eighth innings to score a 5 to 3 victory over the Y. M. C. A. boys.

Mayor Frak E. Little tossed the first ball, a regular roundhouse curve, at which the batter swung vainly. The new field had been whipped into shape after the snowstorm of Wednesday and gave an excellent example of its moisture absorbing properties. Although rain and snow precipitation of Wednesday amounted to 35 hundredths of an inch, the field was perfectly dry, level and very fast. What started out to be a twilight five or seven-inning game was quickly extended to the regulation nine innings. Players and spectators expressed their satisfaction with the field. Some 50 cars motored out.

The Y. M. C. A. was slow in starting but in a temporary lapse of control in the sixth on the part of Hautala, Lester Peterson crossed the home sack for the first run. Ziebell tallied in the seventh and Fitzharris came home in the eighth.

Hautala, pitching for the winners, struck out seven men and allowed three bases on balls. Whitlock of the Y. M. C. A., struck out eight and passed two.

Fast fielding prevented any long drives, only three two-base hits being recorded.

The runners showed speed on the sacks, nine stealing bases.

NINE B. H. S. TRACK AND FIELD MEN TO ENTER 13 EVENTS

DISTRICT TRACK MEET HELD AT LITTLE FALLS TOMORROW; C.-I. DOPED TO WIN

BRAINERD EXPECTED TO SHOW UP WELL IN TRACK EVENTS; FACE STIFF OPPOSITION

Nine Brainerd high school athletes face stiff opposition tomorrow afternoon in the district track and field meet at Little Falls.

The Brainerd representatives were picked following the interclass track meet at Gregory Park last Saturday and have been drilled by Coach Warren Kasch each day this week for the test tomorrow.

The school will be represented by the following men who will enter 13 events: Schuety, Karlson, Lammon, Moe, Hoffbauer, Abrahamson, Hautala Foster and E. Johnson. Only one man of the group Johnson, was an entry at the district track and field meet last year.

Because of the strength of Crosby Ironton in track and field entries, the range school is predicted to place first.

Brainerd will be strong in track events but will show weakness in the field events.

BIDDING FOR DEMPSEY'S SERVICES AS A FIGHTER

DEMPSEY IS ANXIOUS FOR MILLION ANTE

NO OUTSTANDING OPPONENT IN SIGHT FOR THE FORMER CHAMPION

EVERYTHING AT PRESENT REMAINS IN SPECULATIVE STAGE

New York, May 17.—(UP)—The phantom bidding for Jack Dempsey's services as a fighter has started again and the former heavyweight champion has announced he will be ready to talk business when the mythical promoters get the ante up to $1,000,000.

Dempsey is said undoubtedly to be entertaining plans for a return to the ring. But since there is no outstanding opponent in sight and he has received no bona fide offer everything remains in the speculative stage.

In answer to two copyrighted stories in New York newspapers that he will return to the ring this fall, Dempsey said:

"I might consider an offer to fight again if the purse were large enough and the opponent suitable."

It is virtually impossible to find out from Dempsey what he is going to do because Jack himself does not know. When the time comes and the money is laid on the line, Dempsey will make up his mind.

If it's a million Dempsey will fight again. It is doubtful if he will ever fight again for less than that sum.

Dempsey planned to resume light training at Stillman's gymnasium today, but that in itself is not significant enough to mean that he is starting training for another fight.

When Dempsey gets worried about anything or restless he starts training again to work off his surplus energy.

Watching the Scoreboard

The Boston Braves beat the New York Giants 4 to 3 and 5 to 4, Larry Benton and Carl Hubbell losing to Bruce Cunningham and Art Delaney. The Braves won the second game in the tenth when Freddy Maguire's double drove in the winning run.

Pounding Dazzy Vance out of the box, the Philadelphia Phillies won from Brooklyn, 7 to 4. Lefty O'Doul hit his sixth and seventh homers of the season. It was Brooklyn's ninth straight defeat.

Owen Carroll, Detroit pitcher, won his own game with a single in the seventh following Schuble's triple, the Tigers defeating the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 3.

No other games were played.

JOE TURNESA ADVANCES TO SEMI-FINAL

Moortown, Eng., May 17.—(UP)—Joe Turnesa, American Ryder Cup professional, advanced to the semi-final round of the Yorkshire Evening News thousand guineas tournament today, winning from J. J. Taylor, British pro, 5 and 4.

W. H. Davies was the first Briton to reach the semi-finals. He eliminated George Duncan, captain of the British Ryder Cup team who conquered Walter Hagen in the first round, after a great battle, one up.

Leo Diegel, American professional champion, lost his quarter final match to C. A. Whitcombe, of Great Britain, 2 and 1, after a hard battle, leaving Turnesa as the only American to reach the semi-final round.

CITY DIAMONDBALL PLAYOFF TONIGHT

FIRST OF SERIES TO BE PLAYED BETWEEN OILERS AND CHIEFS

The first game in the city diamondball league play off will be played tonight at the water tower grounds when the Sinclair Oil Co. clashes with the Service Motor Co.

A fast game is anticipated as both teams are very evenly matched. The "Oilers" defeated the "Chiefs" in the city league this season by a score of 10 to 5. The Chiefs had the bases loaded in the last inning with no one down when Beck hit what looked to be a sure home run but a remarkable catch by Hautala, the "Oilers" left fielder, which was converted into a triple play, prevented any scoring and won the game for the "Oilers."

SOUTH SIDE WINS CITY LEAGUE OPENER FROM Y. M. C. A.

WINNERS GET JUMP IN FIRST INNING; PUSH OVER THREE

TEAMS SHOW GOOD CONDITIONING FOR FIRST GAME OF SEASON; SCORE 5-3

FAST FIELDING HOLDS DOWN LONG HITTING; 3 TWO-BASE CLOUTS

Out on the Rosko field yesterday afternoon two Brainerd teams opened the city baseball league in a somewhat chilly atmosphere which handicapped the prospects for a colorful opening.

However, the South Side and the Y. M. C. A. showed good conditioning for so early in the season and the 300 spectators expressed pleasure at the performance given.

The South Siders grabbed a substantial lead in the first inning by scoring three runs and came through with one run in the fifth and eighth innings to score a 5 to 3 victory over the Y. M. C. A. boys.

Mayor Frak E. Little tossed the first ball, a regular roundhouse curve, at which the batter swung vainly. The new field had been whipped into shape after the snowstorm of Wednesday and gave an excellent example of its moisture absorbing properties. Although rain and snow precipitation of Wednesday amounted to 35 hundredths of an inch, the field was perfectly dry, level and very fast. What started out to be a twilight five or seven-inning game was quickly extended to the regulation nine innings. Players and spectators expressed their satisfaction with the field. Some 50 cars motored out.

The Y. M. C. A. was slow in starting but in a temporary lapse of control in the sixth on the part of Hautala, Lester Peterson crossed the home sack for the first run. Ziebell tallied in the seventh and Fitzharris came home in the eighth.

Hautala, pitching for the winners, struck out seven men and allowed three bases on balls. Whitlock of the Y. M. C. A., struck out eight and passed two.

Fast fielding prevented any long drives, only three two-base hits being recorded.

The runners showed speed on the sacks, nine stealing bases.

NINE B. H. S. TRACK AND FIELD MEN TO ENTER 13 EVENTS

DISTRICT TRACK MEET HELD AT LITTLE FALLS TOMORROW; C.-I. DOPED TO WIN

BRAINERD EXPECTED TO SHOW UP WELL IN TRACK EVENTS; FACE STIFF OPPOSITION

Nine Brainerd high school athletes face stiff opposition tomorrow afternoon in the district track and field meet at Little Falls.

The Brainerd representatives were picked following the interclass track meet at Gregory Park last Saturday and have been drilled by Coach Warren Kasch each day this week for the test tomorrow.

The school will be represented by the following men who will enter 13 events: Schuety, Karlson, Lammon, Moe, Hoffbauer, Abrahamson, Hautala Foster and E. Johnson. Only one man of the group Johnson, was an entry at the district track and field meet last year.

Because of the strength of Crosby Ironton in track and field entries, the range school is predicted to place first.

Brainerd will be strong in track events but will show weakness in the field events.

JOHNNY SALO CUTS DOWN LEAD OF PETE GAVUZZI

Sweetwater, Texas, May 17—(UP) Johnny Salo, Passaic, N. J., policeman, cut 11 minutes and 30 seconds from the lead of Pete Gavuzzi, England, when he won yesterday's 62-mile lap of C. C. Pyle's transcontinental foot race in 7:35:40. It was Salo's second consecutive victory, after he had tied with Gavuzzi for five previous laps.

Gavuzzi finished in 7:47:10, and tied Sam Richman, New York, for second.

DEMPSEY IS ANXIOUS FOR MILLION ANTE

NO OUTSTANDING OPPONENT IN SIGHT FOR THE FORMER CHAMPION

EVERYTHING AT PRESENT REMAINS IN SPECULATIVE STAGE

New York, May 17.—(UP)—The phantom bidding for Jack Dempsey's services as a fighter has started again and the former heavyweight champion has announced he will be ready to talk business when the mythical promoters get the ante up to $1,000,000.

Dempsey is said undoubtedly to be entertaining plans for a return to the ring. But since there is no outstanding opponent in sight and he has received no bona fide offer everything remains in the speculative stage.

In answer to two copyrighted stories in New York newspapers that he will return to the ring this fall, Dempsey said:

"I might consider an offer to fight again if the purse were large enough and the opponent suitable."

It is virtually impossible to find out from Dempsey what he is going to do because Jack himself does not know. When the time comes and the money is laid on the line, Dempsey will make up his mind.

If it's a million Dempsey will fight again. It is doubtful if he will ever fight again for less than that sum.

Dempsey planned to resume light training at Stillman's gymnasium today, but that in itself is not significant enough to mean that he is starting training for another fight.

When Dempsey gets worried about anything or restless he starts training again to work off his surplus energy.

Watching the Scoreboard

The Boston Braves beat the New York Giants 4 to 3 and 5 to 4, Larry Benton and Carl Hubbell losing to Bruce Cunningham and Art Delaney. The Braves won the second game in the tenth when Freddy Maguire's double drove in the winning run.

Pounding Dazzy Vance out of the box, the Philadelphia Phillies won from Brooklyn, 7 to 4. Lefty O'Doul hit his sixth and seventh homers of the season. It was Brooklyn's ninth straight defeat.

Owen Carroll, Detroit pitcher, won his own game with a single in the seventh following Schuble's triple, the Tigers defeating the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 3.

No other games were played.

JOE TURNESA ADVANCES TO SEMI-FINAL

Moortown, Eng., May 17.—(UP)—Joe Turnesa, American Ryder Cup professional, advanced to the semi-final round of the Yorkshire Evening News thousand guineas tournament today, winning from J. J. Taylor, British pro, 5 and 4.

W. H. Davies was the first Briton to reach the semi-finals. He eliminated George Duncan, captain of the British Ryder Cup team who conquered Walter Hagen in the first round, after a great battle, one up.

Leo Diegel, American professional champion, lost his quarter final match to C. A. Whitcombe, of Great Britain, 2 and 1, after a hard battle, leaving Turnesa as the only American to reach the semi-final round.

CITY DIAMONDBALL PLAYOFF TONIGHT

FIRST OF SERIES TO BE PLAYED BETWEEN OILERS AND CHIEFS

The first game in the city diamondball league play off will be played tonight at the water tower grounds when the Sinclair Oil Co. clashes with the Service Motor Co.

A fast game is anticipated as both teams are very evenly matched. The "Oilers" defeated the "Chiefs" in the city league this season by a score of 10 to 5. The Chiefs had the bases loaded in the last inning with no one down when Beck hit what looked to be a sure home run but a remarkable catch by Hautala, the "Oilers" left fielder, which was converted into a triple play, prevented any scoring and won the game for the "Oilers."

OFFICIAL OPENING OF LUM PARK MAY 19

Robert Block Leases Park and All Concessions From Board for Season

VARIED PROGRAM PLANNED

First Motor Boat Races June 9; Regatta There July 4, 5, 6, and 7

Robert Block who has leased Lum Park and its concession for the season from the Brainerd Park Board announced this morning that the park will officially open to the public Sunday, May 19.

Arrangements are being made to bring Rice's colored dance orchestra of New Orleans, La., now on a northern tour, to the pavilion for the first dance under Mr. Block's management at an early date.

The park is at present in as fine a condition as it has ever been. Every foot of the land owned by the board has been raked with all trees trimmed.

The water slide and diving tower will be erected this week to inaugurate the swimming season next week.

The latest improvements at the park include the construction of a rustic porch at the cottage, erection of two additional log and rustic stands, and refinishing of the floor in the pavilion.

Two thousand flowers will decorate the rowar plots at the park this season.

Mr. Block announced that in addition to the regular program of the park as was carried out last year he has completed arrangements whereby lunches will be served in the pavilion.

All deadheads in Rice lake have been cleared which will enable hydro planes to land there this summer.

A mile course has been surveyed and buoyed for the outboard motor races, the first of which will be held on June 9. The regatta of the season will take place on July 4, 5, 6, 7 with approximately 50 boats competing for prizes totalling $500.

Arrangements are being made to have a public concert each week. The Brainerd Municipal band will open the season there the early part of next month.

Two dances will be scheduled each week, music to be furnished by the best orchestras available.

"Dirty ring around the washtubs" is a dangerous sign

IT MEANS the clothes aren't snowy white. It means there's dirt in them. It means scum forms when you put soap in the water. And that means you're using hard water. Scum always forms in hard water.

What to do? Soften the water with Melo and it is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. No dirty ring forms. The clothes wash snowy white. Delightful suds. And you use only ⅓ or ½ the amount of soap ordinarily used in hard water. Get rid of that dirty ring! Get rid of it by buying and using Melo. Get Melo at your grocer's.

OFFICIAL OPENING OF LUM PARK MAY 19

Robert Block Leases Park and All Concessions From Board for Season

VARIED PROGRAM PLANNED

First Motor Boat Races June 9; Regatta There July 4, 5, 6, and 7

Robert Block who has leased Lum Park and its concession for the season from the Brainerd Park Board announced this morning that the park will officially open to the public Sunday, May 19.

Arrangements are being made to bring Rice's colored dance orchestra of New Orleans, La., now on a northern tour, to the pavilion for the first dance under Mr. Block's management at an early date.

The park is at present in as fine a condition as it has ever been. Every foot of the land owned by the board has been raked with all trees trimmed.

The water slide and diving tower will be erected this week to inaugurate the swimming season next week.

The latest improvements at the park include the construction of a rustic porch at the cottage, erection of two additional log and rustic stands, and refinishing of the floor in the pavilion.

Two thousand flowers will decorate the rowar plots at the park this season.

Mr. Block announced that in addition to the regular program of the park as was carried out last year he has completed arrangements whereby lunches will be served in the pavilion.

All deadheads in Rice lake have been cleared which will enable hydro planes to land there this summer.

A mile course has been surveyed and buoyed for the outboard motor races, the first of which will be held on June 9. The regatta of the season will take place on July 4, 5, 6, 7 with approximately 50 boats competing for prizes totalling $500.

Arrangements are being made to have a public concert each week. The Brainerd Municipal band will open the season there the early part of next month.

Two dances will be scheduled each week, music to be furnished by the best orchestras available.

"Dirty ring around the washtubs" is a dangerous sign

IT MEANS the clothes aren't snowy white. It means there's dirt in them. It means scum forms when you put soap in the water. And that means you're using hard water. Scum always forms in hard water.

What to do? Soften the water with Melo and it is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. No dirty ring forms. The clothes wash snowy white. Delightful suds. And you use only ⅓ or ½ the amount of soap ordinarily used in hard water. Get rid of that dirty ring! Get rid of it by buying and using Melo. Get Melo at your grocer's.

Its rear quarter of durable fabric may be folded back or raised easily and quickly. It fits perfectly into either position . . . revealing the fine design and workmanship which you would expect in a Fisher-built body of any type.

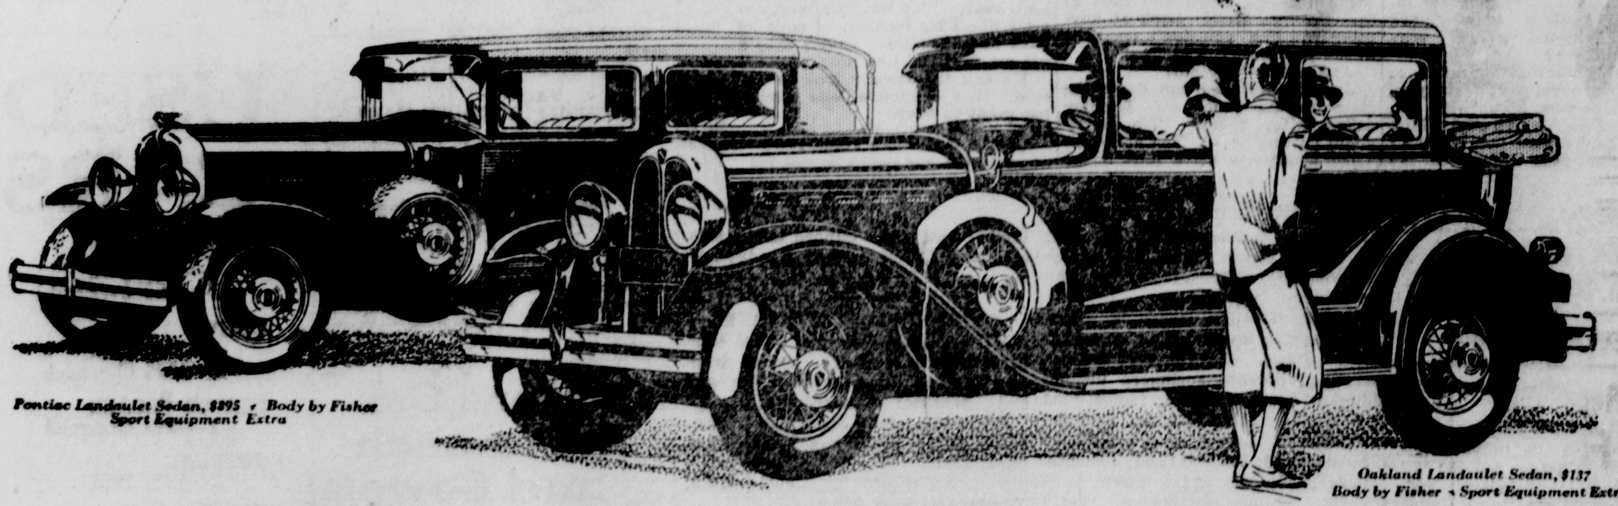

The popularity of Oakland and Pontiac Convertible Landaulets was apparent in smart winter resorts during the past season. Mothers of growing children were especially interested in the opportunity they presented for keeping young folks exposed to the healthful rays of the sun. And they, themselves, enjoyed the airy comfort . . . the refreshing freedom . . . the smart, distinctive individuality.

A special demonstration of Convertible Landaulets has been arranged which we will be glad to make for you at any time. Let us show you how delightful one of these cars is when open . . . how comfortable when closed . . . and how easily it can be changed from one position to the other.

A PICNIC is a great place to get thirsty. And Country Club makes thirst a pleasure! Nothing takes the place of this outstanding beverage when it's time to spread the "eats".

Children and grown-ups like Country Club's famous flavor. And there's nourishment and health-building qualities in every bottle.

Only the finest barley malt, choicest hops and other select ingredients are used. Sanitary methods of brewing and bottling, and thorough ageing in giant tanks, give added quality and goodness to Country Club.

The Convertible Landaulet Sedan-

Open to sunshine .. closed to the rain... smart in any weather

When the summer sun sends down its warm, health-giving rays . . . fold back the top . . . enjoy the freedom of an open car. If a sudden shower springs up . . . you can have shelter instantly. Simply raise the top . . . snap three catches . . . and you are snug and dry in closed car luxury.

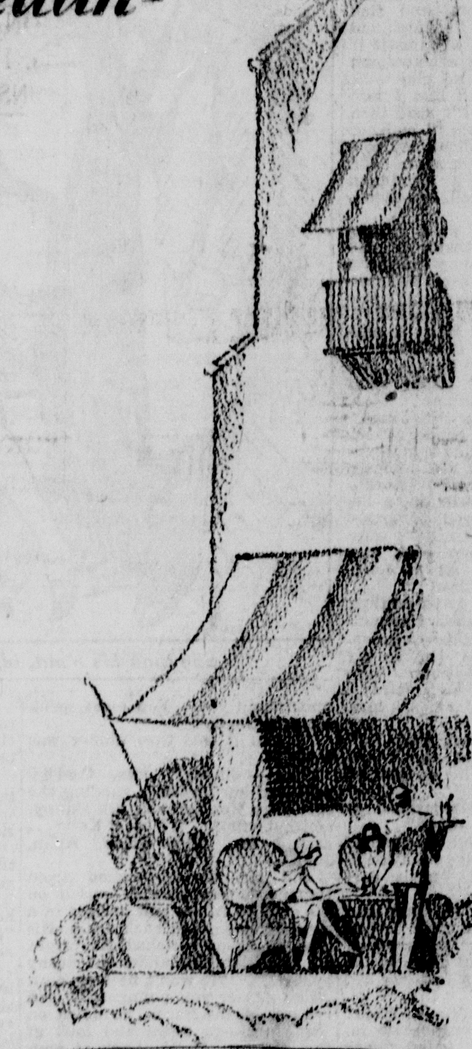

On either the New Oakland All-American Six or the Pontiac Big Six chassis you can obtain the Convertible Landaulet body type . . . a Fisher body creation designed to combine the fair weather benefits of an open car with the protection of a smart, completely appointed sedan. Its rear quarter of durable fabric may be folded back or raised easily and quickly. It fits perfectly into either position . . . revealing the fine design and workmanship which you would expect in a Fisher-built body of any type.

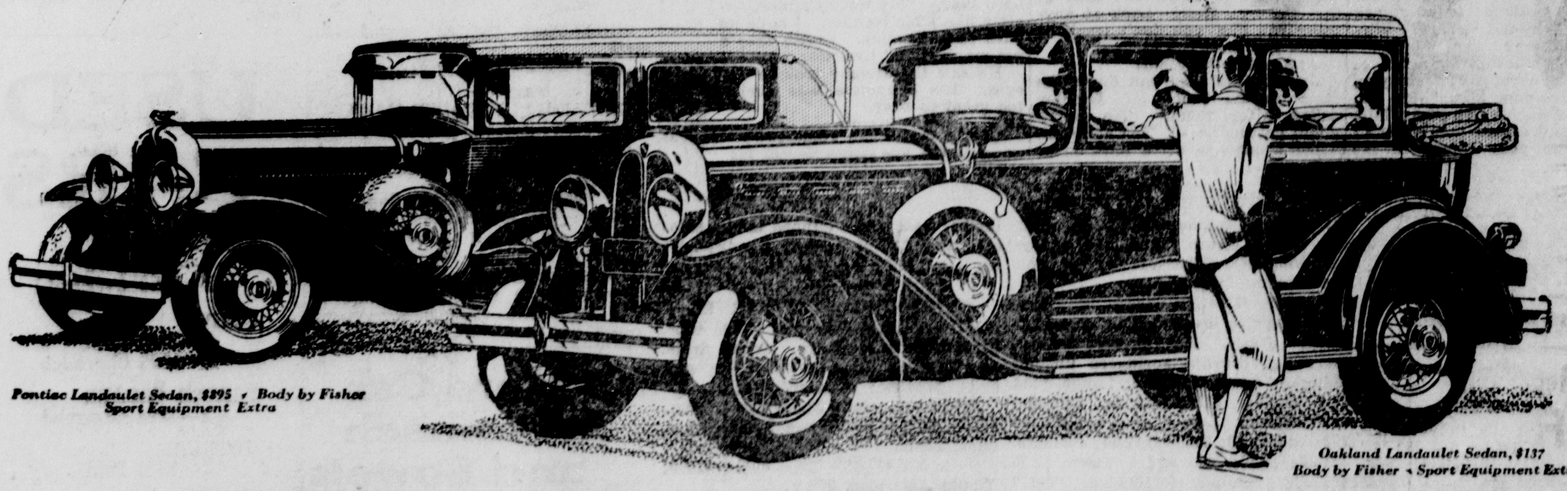

The popularity of Oakland and Pontiac Convertible Landaulets was apparent in smart winter resorts during the past season. Mothers of growing children were especially interested in the opportunity they presented for keeping young folks exposed to the healthful rays of the sun. And they, themselves, enjoyed the airy comfort . . . the refreshing freedom . . . the smart, distinctive individuality.

A special demonstration of Convertible Landaulets has been arranged which we will be glad to make for you at any time. Let us show you how delightful one of these cars is when open . . . how comfortable when closed . . . and how easily it can be changed from one position to the other.

Daphne by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

TO escape the nagging of a stepmother and the selfishness of her stepsister, Daphne Haines, seventeen and beautiful, leaves home determined to make her own living. She has a difficult time in San Francisco and nearly starves until she encounters Ralph McKevitt, family friend, wealthy and handsome, whom her half-sister, Crystal, has decided to marry for luxury and comfort, rather than love. Ralph soon wins Daphne's affection, and she is exquisitely happy until Crystal appears. Crystal uses McKevitt as a "good thing," but spends much time with a debonnaire Bohemian, Avery Woodward, who promises to teach her much of life and love and art. Unhappy because Ralph obviously neglects her now, Daphne moons and dreams until she reduces her efficiency to a point where she loses her position. Ill with humility and fright, she sits in the park. Suddenly she discovers Ralph driving along in a smart roadster. She hails him. He seems enthusiastic over their meeting, and she feels reassured that he still cares for her. She tells him her troubles and he promises to find her a position. Meanwhile Crystal is making more demands on Ralph's time and purse. He is annoyed, but he reasons, Crystal is a helpless type of girl, and he must stand by her. Daphne becomes secretary to a prominent elderly lawyer, who takes a fatherly interest in her. She is overjoyed when he invites her and Ralph to his home, and with the aid of Miss Viola manages to get a new dress for the occasion. Ralph sends Allan Winters, a friend in his place. During the journey Allan's attempt at sociability is wasted, for the girl at his side seems unconscious of his presence. Her mind is filled with thoughts of Ralph, whom she adores.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIII

OLD MR. GREELY was in the garden, walking up and down the gravel path, hands behind him, smoking a pipe.

When he saw them coming he stood squinting in the sunlight for a minute, then hobbled leisurely down to the rustic gate, and gallantly held it open for Daphne.

She took his hand, blushing furiously. "Ralph couldn't come—it was impossible for him to get away, so Mr. Winters . . . Mr. Winters . . ."

The old man took Allan's hand, and pulled it up and down like a pump handle. "So Mr. Winters took his place, eh? Umm . . . that's good, that's good . . . take the young lady in, Allan, and find Mrs. Colby for her. So Ralph had to work, eh? He'll kill himself if he doesn't take a day off now and then. All work and no play . . . hmm . . . hah! Tell him I said so, will you, Daphne?" And then turning back to Allan, "I call her Daphne. Always call all my secretaries by their first name. Old man's privilege . . . wonderful thing to be old . . . well, run along, run along—"

Then he began to walk up and down again. "So that's it, eh? Hmm . . . What's young McKevitt trying to do, throw over the only sensible female he ever had? For the blonde? Hmm . . . fool!"

"Allan Winters! What a nice surprise, Allan, and this is—"

"This is Daphne Haines, Mr. Greely's secretary," Allan said, "Mrs. Colby, Miss Haines."

The old lady who was really nearly fifteen years younger than her brother, looked like a museum piece. A stuffed lady, miraculously preserved left over from Victorian times. A little moth-eaten, a little waxy, but preserved, nevertheless. Her parchment cheeks were delicately rouged, her pale hair was an indefinite straw color, neither gray nor yellow.

She got up with a great rustling of petticoats, and took Daphne's hot little hand in her lifeless grasp.

"So this is Miss Heinz, my brother has told me about," she said in her cracked, high voice.

"Haines, Miss Haines, Mrs. Colby."

Mrs. Colby nodded icily. "I heard the name, Allan, thank you. It is my brother who is hard of hearing.

John dear, my vinaigrette, in the drawing room I think."

"See if you can find her damned old smelling salts, will you, Allan?" her brother rumbled. "In the parlor some place."

The old man lit his pipe and buried his nose in a book. Allan went off to look for the smelling salts, and Daphne, left alone by the window, felt she had lost her last friend.

Why didn't Allan come back? Oh, if Ralph had only come instead . . . if she'd only stayed home. . . . Why did I come? Why did I come here?

Mrs. Colby was knitting again . . . click, click, click. "Thank you, Allan, you're very kind. Are you quite comfortable there, Miss Heinz? You're sure you wouldn't like to take your things to my room? Would you like a glass of water or a——" Her voice trailed off. She was counting stitches.

Old Mr. Greely winked, an unmistakable wink. He said in a hoarse, stage whisper to Daphne, "mustn't mind Sister Anne . . . second childhood!"

"What's that, John? I didn't understand you. You must speak more distinctly!"

"I said it was time dinner was ready!"

"Oh — dinner!" Mrs. Colby gathered her knitting, winding the soft pink wool around her skinny, mottled hands. "I'll see if Katie . . . excuse me, Miss Heinz, Allan, John——"

Old Mr. Greely looked from Daphne, uncomfortably curled on the sofa, to Allan, bolt upright in a straight chair, and back again. His gray mustache twitched. His bright old eyes twinkled under the bushy eyebrows. "It won't be long now. After dinner you young folks can get out of the house, go down on the beach—go down and look at the reef . . . Hell! Look at anything you like, you don't need me to tell you once you escape!"

And escape they did!

Just before they ran down the stairs to the beach Mr. Greeley called after them. "No hurry about getting back! Tea at seven. Time enough to drive back after that. Bright moonlight . . . hmmm-hah!"

"I just love Mr. Greely," Daphne giggled, a little breathlessly. "Ralph says he gets terribly drunk sometimes, and swears awfully, I don't believe it, do you?"

"Don't ever let the old man hear you say you don't believe it. He takes pride in it! He's a regular old pirate, with a heart like a gold mine. Wait till you know him better."

They wandered along the deserted beach, pausing to pick up opalescent shells, and bits of wet lavender seaweed. "Look, Daphne a big crab under that rock—watch the old devil go!"

"Allan, I do believe that's a pelican, no it's only a gull, yes it is a pelican—it is, Allan—look!"

Allan and Daphne, who were Mr. Winters and Miss Haines, perfect strangers, only this morning.

They crawled out on the reef, the black jutting reef that was full of fairy pools holding sea secrets at low tide . . . sea anenomes, sea urchins, feathery seaweed drowned in the shallow water. "Watch your step, Daphne!"

"I almost fell in that time!"

The wind blew gently, lifting the black cloud of her hair, the sun cast new glory on the delicate pink of her cheek. He drew in his breath sharply. "We'd better be getting back, the tide is turning. It's a long walk."

She took his hand, blushing furiously.

"Will we be marooned on the rocks? Allan, wouldn't that be exciting? They'd have to get a boat to rescue us!"

He grinned, slipped an arm through hers. "No such luck, the water doesn't come up this far!" He spoke casually. He even stopped and lit a cigarette, holding the match until it burned his fingers. Happiness, so poignant that it was almost pain, flooded his heart, his head, his whole being. "I've found her—I've found her—my girl!"

And Daphne . . . Daphne was happy, too. She picked up a long, slimy cable of kelp and skipped rope with it ecstatically, on the hard sand. "My but he's nice, exactly like a big brother. I hope he likes Miss Yardley. I wish they'd get married and live near us——"

He saw the dreamy look in her eyes. His happiness was almost too great to bear.

Daphne by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

TO escape the nagging of a stepmother and the selfishness of her stepsister, Daphne Haines, seventeen and beautiful, leaves home determined to make her own living. She has a difficult time in San Francisco and nearly starves until she encounters Ralph McKevitt, family friend, wealthy and handsome, whom her half-sister, Crystal, has decided to marry for luxury and comfort, rather than love. Ralph soon wins Daphne's affection, and she is exquisitely happy until Crystal appears. Crystal uses McKevitt as a "good thing," but spends much time with a debonnaire Bohemian, Avery Woodward, who promises to teach her much of life and love and art. Unhappy because Ralph obviously neglects her now, Daphne moons and dreams until she reduces her efficiency to a point where she loses her position. Ill with humility and fright, she sits in the park. Suddenly she discovers Ralph driving along in a smart roadster. She hails him. He seems enthusiastic over their meeting, and she feels reassured that he still cares for her. She tells him her troubles and he promises to find her a position. Meanwhile Crystal is making more demands on Ralph's time and purse. He is annoyed, but he reasons, Crystal is a helpless type of girl, and he must stand by her. Daphne becomes secretary to a prominent elderly lawyer, who takes a fatherly interest in her. She is overjoyed when he invites her and Ralph to his home, and with the aid of Miss Viola manages to get a new dress for the occasion. Ralph sends Allan Winters, a friend in his place. During the journey Allan's attempt at sociability is wasted, for the girl at his side seems unconscious of his presence. Her mind is filled with thoughts of Ralph, whom she adores.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIII

OLD MR. GREELY was in the garden, walking up and down the gravel path, hands behind him, smoking a pipe.

When he saw them coming he stood squinting in the sunlight for a minute, then hobbled leisurely down to the rustic gate, and gallantly held it open for Daphne.

She took his hand, blushing furiously. "Ralph couldn't come—it was impossible for him to get away, so Mr. Winters . . . Mr. Winters . . ."

The old man took Allan's hand, and pulled it up and down like a pump handle. "So Mr. Winters took his place, eh? Umm . . . that's good, that's good . . . take the young lady in, Allan, and find Mrs. Colby for her. So Ralph had to work, eh? He'll kill himself if he doesn't take a day off now and then. All work and no play . . . hmm . . . hah! Tell him I said so, will you, Daphne?" And then turning back to Allan, "I call her Daphne. Always call all my secretaries by their first name. Old man's privilege . . . wonderful thing to be old . . . well, run along, run along—"

Then he began to walk up and down again. "So that's it, eh? Hmm . . . What's young McKevitt trying to do, throw over the only sensible female he ever had? For the blonde? Hmm . . . fool!"

"Allan Winters! What a nice surprise, Allan, and this is—"

"This is Daphne Haines, Mr. Greely's secretary," Allan said, "Mrs. Colby, Miss Haines."

The old lady who was really nearly fifteen years younger than her brother, looked like a museum piece. A stuffed lady, miraculously preserved left over from Victorian times. A little moth-eaten, a little waxy, but preserved, nevertheless. Her parchment cheeks were delicately rouged, her pale hair was an indefinite straw color, neither gray nor yellow.

She got up with a great rustling of petticoats, and took Daphne's hot little hand in her lifeless grasp.

"So this is Miss Heinz, my brother has told me about," she said in her cracked, high voice.

"Haines, Miss Haines, Mrs. Colby."

Mrs. Colby nodded icily. "I heard the name, Allan, thank you. It is my brother who is hard of hearing.

John dear, my vinaigrette, in the drawing room I think."

"See if you can find her damned old smelling salts, will you, Allan?" her brother rumbled. "In the parlor some place."

The old man lit his pipe and buried his nose in a book. Allan went off to look for the smelling salts, and Daphne, left alone by the window, felt she had lost her last friend.

Why didn't Allan come back? Oh, if Ralph had only come instead . . . if she'd only stayed home. . . . Why did I come? Why did I come here?

Mrs. Colby was knitting again . . . click, click, click. "Thank you, Allan, you're very kind. Are you quite comfortable there, Miss Heinz? You're sure you wouldn't like to take your things to my room? Would you like a glass of water or a——" Her voice trailed off. She was counting stitches.

Old Mr. Greely winked, an unmistakable wink. He said in a hoarse, stage whisper to Daphne, "mustn't mind Sister Anne . . . second childhood!"

"What's that, John? I didn't understand you. You must speak more distinctly!"

"I said it was time dinner was ready!"

"Oh — dinner!" Mrs. Colby gathered her knitting, winding the soft pink wool around her skinny, mottled hands. "I'll see if Katie . . . excuse me, Miss Heinz, Allan, John——"

Old Mr. Greely looked from Daphne, uncomfortably curled on the sofa, to Allan, bolt upright in a straight chair, and back again. His gray mustache twitched. His bright old eyes twinkled under the bushy eyebrows. "It won't be long now. After dinner you young folks can get out of the house, go down on the beach—go down and look at the reef . . . Hell! Look at anything you like, you don't need me to tell you once you escape!"

And escape they did!

Just before they ran down the stairs to the beach Mr. Greeley called after them. "No hurry about getting back! Tea at seven. Time enough to drive back after that. Bright moonlight . . . hmmm-hah!"

"I just love Mr. Greely," Daphne giggled, a little breathlessly. "Ralph says he gets terribly drunk sometimes, and swears awfully, I don't believe it, do you?"

"Don't ever let the old man hear you say you don't believe it. He takes pride in it! He's a regular old pirate, with a heart like a gold mine. Wait till you know him better."

They wandered along the deserted beach, pausing to pick up opalescent shells, and bits of wet lavender seaweed. "Look, Daphne a big crab under that rock—watch the old devil go!"

"Allan, I do believe that's a pelican, no it's only a gull, yes it is a pelican—it is, Allan—look!"

Allan and Daphne, who were Mr. Winters and Miss Haines, perfect strangers, only this morning.

They crawled out on the reef, the black jutting reef that was full of fairy pools holding sea secrets at low tide . . . sea anenomes, sea urchins, feathery seaweed drowned in the shallow water. "Watch your step, Daphne!"

"I almost fell in that time!"

The wind blew gently, lifting the black cloud of her hair, the sun cast new glory on the delicate pink of her cheek. He drew in his breath sharply. "We'd better be getting back, the tide is turning. It's a long way to walk."

She took his hand, blushing furiously.

"Will we be marooned on the rocks? Allan, wouldn't that be exciting? They'd have to get a boat to rescue us!"

He grinned, slipped an arm through hers. "No such luck, the water doesn't come up this far!" He spoke casually. He even stopped and lit a cigarette, holding the match until it burned his fingers. Happiness, so poignant that it was almost pain, flooded his heart, his head, his whole being. "I've found her—I've found her—my girl!"

And Daphne . . . Daphne was happy, too. She picked up a long, slimy cable of kelp and skipped rope with it ecstatically, on the hard sand. "My but he's nice, exactly like a big brother. I hope he likes Miss Yardley. I wish they'd get married and live near us——"

He saw the dreamy look in her eyes. His happiness was almost too great to bear.
